Happy Veteran's Day . . .

This is a special shout out today to all those serving or have served our country. To those who put their lives at risk or worse have lost their lives in service to America. In a country of 320 million Americans, 21.8 million are Veterans of the US armed forces, approximately 2.2 million of which are women. Sadly, of those Veterans, almost 3 million are disabled and over 40,000 are homeless. The most poignant fact is that over 1.1 million troops have given their lives to protect America. As much as we say we honor and are grateful for their protection that honor and gratitude does not always materialize for our Veterans when they come home, we should and could be doing more. My grandfather, uncle, father, cousins, nephew all served in the military. We are the land of the free because of our brave soldiers. We cannot forget that, nor can we avoid our responsibility to care for those who have so valiantly defended us. In that vein, below are links to many resources that are provided to our Veterans. If you have friends or families that have served in the military, please pass on the information. It would make a difference in the lives of our noble protectors.
